Dear Transportation Planners.

The Juneau Road is a bad idea. I am alarmed at the cavalier attitude that DOT has taken about the funding for this enormous project. As the nation slides toward recession, the road project will be seen as a great embarrassment to all concerned.

A reasonable cost estimate still has yet to be identified for most of the project. Golder Associates identified several geological hazards whose mitigation has not been adequately budgeted. The project is already bleeding red ink, but if the theoretical budget is approved, the bleeding will turn to gushers.

Please stop this nonsense and invest in the marine highway.

Thanks,
